U.S. Demands Soviet Attend Peace Parley

Kremlin Participation Wanted, But Not As A So-Called 'Neutral'

PANMUNJOM (AP)—U. S. envoy Arthur Dean said today "some method must be worked out" to assure the attendance of Soviet Russia as a full participant at a Korean peace conference.

The Reds want Russia to attend as a neutral. Dean charged this would mean the Soviet Union would not be bound by conference decisions.

He said Chinese and North Korean negotiators working on plans for the peace conference are holding Russia "as a threat over our heads."

Allied and Communist diplomats met for 3 hours and 45 minutes, the longest continuous session since the preliminary talks opened. They will meet again Friday.

Meanwhile, explanations to war prisoners who have refused to go home remained stalled and there was no indication that the interviews would be renewed.

DEAN READ two long statements at the preliminary peace talks ridiculing the Communist position that Russia is a neutral. He asked:

"Why are you afraid to have the U. S. S. R. at the political conference as a full participant?"

"Is the real reason because: (a) the U. S. S. R. does not wish to be bound by the agreement reached at the political conference and (b) you wish to use as a threat at the conference the possible non-aggression of the U. S. S. R. or its noncompliance with the agreements reached?"

The Chinese delegate, Huang Eua, replied with what Dean called "a bitter denunciation."

"It was unadulterated hogwash," Dean said, "accusing us of bad treatment of prisoners and atrocities in prisoner of war camps. I told them we'd make progress if we cut out these stump speeches."

Huang told Dean that the United States started the Korean War, that Russia had striven in the United Nations "for years" for a peaceful settlement.

"You have attempted to negate the neutrality of the Soviet Union," the Chinese told Dean. "Are you at war with the Soviet Union?"

DEAN REPLIED that Russia "is not and cannot be a neutral nation. As to the role of truce neutrals at the peace conference we are willing to exchange views. That does not and it will not include the U. S. S. R." He continued:

"We are continuously and constantly in a state of warfare against everything for which the U. S. S. R. stands."

"The entire world knows we stand for the complete freedom and dignity of man as a creature of God. The U. S. S. R. stands for the supremacy of the state and believes the individual unimportant except in so far as he can be used by the state. That, we can never accept."

"Communists, directed by the U. S. S. R., are continuously and constantly trying to undermine and overthrow our government in an undeclared war but they shall not succeed."

UTAH STATE PRISON, Utah (AP)—When Utah State Prison officials allowed two trustees outside the main prison last night to repair a plover in the institution's mechanical shop, they apparently forgot about an automobile in the shop for repairs.

Brisk Nor'wester Chills North U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—Brisk northwesterly winds blew cold air across most of the northern half of the nation between the Rockies and Appalachians today.

But comparatively mild weather continued in areas east and south of the Appalachians. Readings also were a little above normal in sections west of the Rockies.

Talbott Clears Lieutenant In Security Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pentagon officers speculated today over the effect Secretary of the Air Force Talbott's reversal of a reserve officer's security dismissal might have on similar cases under study.

Talbott announced yesterday that he had cleared Lt. Milo J. Radulovich, who had been threatened with discharge because of alleged Communist sympathies of his father and sister.

Radulovich was accused because his sister reportedly joined in a Communist picket line and his father read a "radical" newspaper. Talbott, in ruling the 26-year-old officer is not a security risk, said his "association with his sister is not such as to make her activities and beliefs the determining factor in this case."

He added that the record does not support the conclusion that the father had engaged in activities of "such a type as to bear upon the decision in this case."

The original security board found Radulovich was a doubtful security risk, but did not question his loyalty. It recommended that his commission be recalled. The personnel council, top-ranking adviser to the Air Force secretary on such matters, disagreed with some details but agreed with the conclusion.

Thus, Talbott overruled all of the agencies and advisers provided by law in clearing Radulovich.

Tax Continued

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—City councilmen repealed a three per cent city amusement tax last night by a 10-to-1 vote. The tax on theater tickets, boxing and special events, imposed about 51 years ago, raised about $60,000 annually.

Public's Comments On Increase As Annexation Hearing Nears

With a public hearing on the proposal scheduled for early December, local residents Wednesday were taking increased notice of the city's plan to annex a large area on the northern end of the corporation.

A strong pro-annexation sentiment continued to predominate in the comments of those queried along the streets and in offices and business places. The city's plan at present is under study by Pickaway County commissioners, preparatory to a public hearing to be held here, probably Dec. 8.

Typical comments were: Irvin Kinsey, merchant—"I think the annexation plan is a good thing, and I'm sure for it. It is bound to benefit the whole district—it can't help it!"

Harold Clifton, City Councilman—"I'm for annexation."

MONTY LAMBERT, merchant—"I'm all for annexation. The Lions Club of Circleville, which I am privileged to serve as president, was one of the first service organizations to go all-out for the plan to take in the northern area. We came out strong for it, because we saw immediately that common sense and progress are on the side of the idea. And progress for Circleville is certain to mean progress for the whole district."

Joe Brink, City Councilman—"Annexation for Circleville is certainly the proper thing to do, and now is the time to do it. I know that some people feel that the plan seeks to take in too much territory, but who's to say how much—or how little—land should be annexed now? How can anybody foresee the future to that extent?"

Several women among the first questioned declined to permit the use of their names, or said they had no comment.

City Auditor Lillian Young said she hadn't formed any definite opinion on the city's plan as yet. And, in a nearby office in City Hall, Clerk Harriet Wallace of the municipal health department also said she hasn't had an opportunity to learn details of the proposal.

McCarthy Lashes Truman, Chides Ike In Rebuttal

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy says the Truman administration was "crawling with Communists" and adds that in some respects the Eisenhower regime is "bating zero" on the same count.

Last night, McCarthy charges that Truman, while a U. S. senator and vice presidential candidate, intervened against the dismissal from government service of George Shaw Wheeler, who later deserted to Communism.

McCarthy says that after Truman became President, Wheeler was reinstated, although he had been dismissed as a Communist.

As for the Eisenhower administration's efforts to rid the government service of subversives, he said:

"Let us glance at a few cases where our Republican batting average is zero, where we struck out."

As an example he cites John Patton Davies, who he says helped deliver "China into Communist hands."

The Wisconsin Republican senator addressed a nationwide television and radio audience last night in answer to Truman, who had assailed "mccarthyism" in a TV-radio speech a week ago Monday night in connection with the Harry Dexter White controversy.

Truman was reported asleep in bed in his Independence, Mo., home last night, an hour before McCarthy went on the air.

Nor was there any immediate comment from the President.

In his reference to the handling of Communists in government, McCarthy said he is somewhat concerned that the Republican party "might also fall victim to the same evil which beset the Democrat party and did so much toward destroying this nation."

Speaking of Davies, McCarthy said:

"He was unanimously referred by the McCarthy committee to the Justice Department for indictment because he lied under oath about his activities in trying to put Communists and espionage agents in key spots in the Central Intelligence Agency. Why is this man still a high official in our government?"

Davies, a career diplomat who was cleared by the Loyalty Review Board during the Truman administration, recently was questioned by the board again and then returned to Germany, where he is an adviser to the U. S. high commissioner. He had been assailed by McCarthy before.

McCarthy also took the Republican administration to task because there has been no accounting of 900 Americans who are known to have been taken prisoner in the Korean War and who never returned. He said the Eisenhower administration is not responsible for the situation, but is responsible for its proper handling.

McCarthy, declaring his fight against communism in government to be an issue in the 1954 election campaign, said:

"The raw, harsh, unpleasant fact is that communism is an issue and will be an issue in 1954."

"It would not be an issue between our two great political parties if they were united in fighting communism. They are not so united today. Truman's diatribe against those who expose Communists is the best proof of that."

Looking to the 1954 Senate and House elections, McCarthy said:

"If the American people agree with Truman that what he calls 'mccarthyism' is bad, that it is wrong to dig out traitors, they have a chance to get rid of me as chairman of the investigating committee next fall by defeating any Republican up for election."

Ottawa Fears For Safety Of Red Informer

No Strain Now Seen Between Two Nations Despite Press Taunts

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada appeared ready today to announce formally that U. S. Senate investigators can question ex-Russian Igor Gouzenko any time they want, but that the questioning may finger him for the Communists he exposed in 1946.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, in a statement to Parliament about mid-afternoon, was scheduled to outline his government's reply to a second request from U. S. investigators.

It came from the Senate internal security subcommittee, seeking an opportunity to question Gouzenko, former Soviet Embassy clerk who revealed a Russian spy ring operating in Canada.

Unofficial sources speculated that arrangements might be made for a secret meeting between Gouzenko and a subcommittee representative somewhere in Canada. It apparently is up to Gouzenko whether he wanted to run the risk of exposure by attending.

CANADIAN Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson outlined his government's new position on the Gouzenko request yesterday. He told the United Nations Correspondents Association in New York Gouzenko could, if he wished, go any place in the United States or Canada to talk to American investigators.

But if he does, Pearson added, Canada can no longer guarantee his safety or that of his family. Gouzenko, his wife and three children have been living under an assumed name and the protection of Canada's famed mounted police.

"Unless India is restrained from further unneutral acts, this nation will have to consult its interests and take action that appears to be appropriate."

Pearson expressed confidence that the international tug-of-war over the former Soviet Embassy clerk would be cleared up to the satisfaction of both countries.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles told a Washington news conference yesterday he doubted the issue would put a lasting strain on U. S.-Canadian friendship.

Canadian newspapers charge that U. S. investigators are threatening to name Pearson as one of several Canadians accused of supplying information to a wartime spy ring in Washington. Subcommittee counsel Robert Morris denied the charge but the Toronto Star declared:

"THE WITCH-hunting blabbermouths of the United States, a noisy minority in that country, are apparently after Lester Pearson now, Pearson has suddenly been presented to the public as a Red sympathizer, a spy perhaps. It is just about the most absurd smear that anyone could imagine."

The Toronto Telegram accused Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, of "manipulating the strings" of what it called the "smear campaign" against Pearson.

In Chicago, the Tribune wrote editorially that Pearson "and his followers in the pinko set" are trying "to turn the fact inside out. Just how bad and dangerous the Pearson pinko set may prove to be is something that Americans do not know, but the more the matter is agitated, the more it will come to life."

Pearson termed that editorial "completely false." And Dulles praised Pearson as a strong and vigorous opponent of communism.

Sen. McCarthy Pushing His Radar Probe

NEW YORK (AP)—New witnesses were on call today in Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's showdown attempt to prove "extremely dangerous espionage" at Ft. Monmouth, N. J. The Wisconsin Republican wound up yesterday's opening session of public hearings with a demand for the appearance of Harry Hyman, not further identified.

McCarthy's charges in connection with Ft. Monmouth grew out of secret hearings last month of his Senate permanent investigations subcommittee.

His critics challenged the senator when the Army announced its own investigation had revealed no current espionage at the New Jersey headquarters of the Signal Corps top secret radar development program.

McCarthy then called the public hearings. One witness yesterday was Joseph Levitsky. He worked for the Signal Corps in Philadelphia during the early years of World War II. Then he obtained a transfer to the federal telecommunications laboratory in Nutley, N. J., where he remained until last February.

Levitsky testified he knew the executed atom spy, Julius Rosenberg, and used his name as a reference in getting the job at Nutley. However, the witness would not say whether he was a Communist or whether he had a hand in any way in Rosenberg's espionage activities.

Ohio Farmers Strongly Favor Price Supports

14,310 Vote; 72 Pct. OK Props; Over Third Want 90 Pct. Parity

COLUMBUS (AP)—Although they are strongly in favor of a government price support program, Ohio farmers are divided on what it should be.

A poll of 14,310 farmers by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation shows 72 per cent voting for government price supports.

Of these, 36 per cent said the government should continue to guarantee 90 per cent of parity on basic commodities.

In a similar poll last May only 17 per cent of Ohio farmers favored the 90 per cent parity.

Another 13 per cent would have the government guarantee 100 per cent but on storable and perishable. And 22 per cent favor government support only at a level which would prevent disaster, the federation reported.

FARMERS approve the Soil Conservation Service by a strong margin. Federation president Everett F. Rittenour said 83 per cent polled said the service had been helpful to them.

On Ohio credit facilities, there were 76 per cent who said these facilities now meet their needs.

Increased foreign trade is endorsed by 61 per cent of Ohio farmers polled and 71 per cent asked for agreements to gradually lessen trade restrictions between nations.

It has been the policy of the Farm Bureau that the United States should continue to aid friendly nations by supplying them with agricultural surpluses, Rittenour said.

He added that 83 per cent of Ohio farmers agree with this stand. Only 13 per cent, however, are willing to continue to give food away. More than half said they would be willing to accept local currencies for food shipped abroad.

Most of the farmers polled agreed that increased marketing research would substantially reduce surpluses.

Cost Of Living Edges Upward Again, Federal Index Shows

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today living costs edged up a bit in the month ending in mid-October—assuring a million CIO auto workers of a two-cent-an-hour wage increase.

The increase, of two-tenths of one per cent during the month, brought the index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics to another record high for the fifth month in a row.

It stood at 115.5 per cent of the 1947-49 average, or 1.1 per cent above a year ago.

Despite the new living cost increase, Commissioner Ewan

POW Heroes May Receive Special Award

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force is considering decorating or giving some other recognition to former war prisoners who resisted torture and refused to make false confessions for the Communists.

A spokesman said today that official recommendation of such action must await completion of a detailed study of each case.

Such recognition presumably would go to five airmen who refused to succumb to pressure by the enemy—Lt. John Streit of South Orange, N. J.; M. Sgt. George Morar of Rockville, Md.; Capt. William Preston of Batavia, N. Y.; Capt. Zach Dean of Douglass, Kan., and Capt. William McTaggart of East Brady, Pa.

In the course of interrogating other former prisoners, more cases of heroism probably will appear. While a policy for dealing with the men who refused to confess is crystalizing, the problem of what to do about the others remains unsolved. It may be months before each case is evaluated.

Also involved is the matter of 22 Army soldiers who so far have refused to come home from enemy hands, preferring to live with the Communists.

These new problems, most of them without precedent, are the subject of almost daily meetings in the Pentagon to decide not only the individual cases but to frame a general policy.

Ohio Population Up By 4.1 Pct.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio had the second biggest population increase both in percentage and numbers among the Union's Big Five in the two years after the 1950 federal census.

Between April 1950 and July 1952, Ohio's population grew by 327,000 to a new total of 8,273,000. That is a 4.1 per cent increase.

Biggest increase among the nation's five largest states was in California. That state grew by 9 per cent to 11,542,000, solidifying its second-place position.

Pennsylvania grew only by 0.6 per cent to 10,558,000, New York by 1.9 per cent to 15,111,000 and Illinois by 3.1 per cent to 8,983,000.

No Progress Made In Aviation Talks

LOS ANGELES (AP)—No progress was reported after another conference last night between representatives of North American Aviation, Inc., and the CIO United Auto Workers in the month-long strike at North American's Los Angeles, Columbus and Fresno plants.

Conferees meet again today. The company reported 10,943 of more than 30,000 workers who walked out Oct. 23 have gone back to work. The union has denied any such break in its ranks.

Stores May Close

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department disclosed today it has recommended the closing of six commissary stores at military bases. The installations include the Erie Ordnance Depot near Sandusky, Ohio.

Edges Upward Index Shows

Clague of the bureau said the nation's inflationary period appeared to be at an end. He said that lower food prices are likely in the coming winter months and may bring the over-all living cost levels down from their present peak.

"I think the index will fluctuate within narrow limits," Clague said. "But the period of inflation appears to be ended."

DURING THE month foods declined slightly but this was more than offset by increases in the cost of housing, clothing, medical care, personal care, recreation and other goods and services.

The index is prepared monthly by the Bureau of Labor Statistics from prices it obtains from stores for principal items purchased by moderate-income city families.

The index has been rising steadily since last March, but the change has been very gradual. In fact, the last figures for September put living costs only 1 per cent above what they were a year ago.

Food prices have been holding fairly steady through the spring, summer and fall.

Judge Questions Immersion Story

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The judge leaned forward yesterday when Billie Infante, a pretty model seeking a divorce from her husband Anthony, testified:

"Once he immersed me in wine."

"Immersed you in what?" Judge I. L. Harris shot back.

"In wine."

"How did he do it?"

"Poured it over my head."

"In other words, he didn't dunk you in a bathtub or anything. Not exactly total immersion then," the judge said.

Divorce granted anyhow.

TRICKS for TREATS

Boyle's Okay: Typewriter's Gone, Though

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Me have a great problem, me has.
The eye key on my typewriter ys broken.
Thys may seem no great tragedy to you, but to me yt ys utter desolashun.
A good housewife can get her laundry done even though her washboard breaks yn half. A bank robber, by using a gruff manner, may go on and hold up a bank even though he discover, at the last moment, he has left his pistol at home yn a fyt of absent-mindedness. A tenor, strycken with laryngytis at the top note of his song, can at least fynysh yt by humming tender. Eye myself would just as soon he dyd, as eye can understand an opera that ys hummed better than one that ys sung.

But a columnist with a broken eye key on his typewriter ys yn a far more ptytable plight than a little sparrow with arthritis yn both wyngs. The eye key ys more yndispensable to hym than his own mind. He becomes lyke a plate of ham and eggs on which there ys no ham. He ys tongue-tied.
Me yntended today to wryte an article on the virtue of never losing one's temper. Eye was going to praise the man who meets all trouble with a smile.
But now my heart ys no longer yn thys subject. Any man who can smile when the eye key on his typewriter ys broken would break out laughing at his own funeral, and thus scandalize the mynistry.
No, now eye wrysh eye was a Spanyard lyke a frynd of myne once met n Spanye. The Spanys are sayd by all travelers to be the most artful oath utters yn the cyvylyzed world. They begyn young and study hard all their lyfe long.

Thys partycular Spanyard was myddle-aged and at the peak of his cursyng power. He was a chauffeur and he was dryvyn his frynd across Spanye when he had a flat tyre.
The Spanyard was very vexed. Flat tyres annoy Spanyards more than they do Americans, because you get more flat tyres yn Spanye because the roads are bad. Thys Spanyard got out his tools to fix the culprit tyre. But before reparyng yt, he spoke to yt as yt were a human being, as follows:
"O, tyre—
Then for fifteen full mynutes he delivered an eloquent hystory on the flat tyres yn Spanye. He denounced them all. Then he got down to the evyl nature of the partycular flat tyre before hym. He qvestyoned yts ancestry and projected doubts about the character of yts offspryn. He called yt by all the bad names ever known, and spontaneously yvented new and more terrible oaths upon the spot.
"Eye was struck dumb by the pure poetical magnyficence of thys symple man's rage at an ynnaminate object that had done hym wrong." my frynd recalled.

"When the Spanyard had fynally fynished, he bent down and fixed the tyre, and we drove on, both refreshed."
Eye wrysh eye was that symple Spanyard.
"O eye key on my typewriter—" me would say, and then go on from there. But me am helpless. Even yf me knew Spanys—which me don't—me could not tell thys typewriter what me really think of yt untill thys blasted eye key s repared.

A columnist with a broken eye key ys a lonely man with little left to say, so me wyl conclude with thys thought:
"Syience ys golden."
Ohio Pension Fund Ruling Is Made
COLUMBUS (AP)—Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill has ruled police and firemen's pension funds are eligible to receive state subsidies regardless of when they were organized if they meet required conditions.

One of the conditions requires a municipality to levy three-tenths of a mill tax on all real and personal property within its boundaries for each fund. State Auditor James A. Rhodes had questioned the legality of paying subsidies to pension funds established after Dec. 31, 1947, the year the Legislature authorized subsidies.

Jurors Given 'Serious Matter'
WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—There was some concern when Dist. Atty. Alfred B. Cenedella halted a grand jury session yesterday and said: "I now have a very serious matter to take up with you!"
All leaned forward expectantly.
"Juror Harry B. Deal has just become the father of a boy—9 pounds 8 ounces," Cenedella announced.

"Whew!" said Deal.
The district attorney handed him two cigars and two aspirin tablets. The jury went back to business.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy has not only offered himself as a national political issue, but has contradicted President Eisenhower and is attempting to force Eisenhower's hand in foreign affairs.

The Wisconsin Republican last night combined a television-radio reply to former President Truman's blast at "McCarthyism" with his strongest bid yet for political prominence.

McCarthy was left on the sidelines when the Eisenhower administration through Atty. Gen. Brownell, accused the Truman administration of laxity in ridding the government of Communists.

This was the charge McCarthy had been making for years. But once Brownell made it, it was the Senate's subcommittee on internal security—headed by Sen. Jenner, Indiana Republican—which picked up the ball and ran with it, not McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Last night McCarthy must have disillusioned anyone who thought he would stay in the wings while Brownell's sensational accusations were being examined and investigated.

From the time he took office last January Eisenhower has avoided any public head-on clash with McCarthy—even when the senator tried to block the president's nomination of Charles E. Bohlen as ambassador to Moscow.

If Eisenhower hoped a collision with the senator could be avoided indefinitely, he has learned differently, for McCarthy last night criticized not only the Democrats but Eisenhower's administration as well.

The contradiction of Eisenhower—

In a recent news conference Eisenhower expressed a hope that Communists-in-government would not be an issue in the 1954 congressional elections. Last night McCarthy, in recalling this statement said:

"The raw, harsh, unpleasant fact is that communism is an issue and will be an issue in 1954."

As a rallying point and national issue himself—

McCarthy said: "If the American people agree with Truman that what he calls McCarthyism is bad, that it is wrong to dig out and expose traitors, they have a chance to get rid of me as chairman of the investigating committee by defeating any Republican up for reelection."

Criticism of the administration and attempt to force Eisenhower's hand—

McCarthy called on the people to threaten with defeat at the polls their elected officials—this would include Eisenhower and members of both parties in Congress—if they didn't stop aid for any ally "shipping sinews of war to the enemy (Red China)."

He slammed Truman and the Democrats, as was usual and to be expected, for not getting Communists out of the government faster. And he said in this field the Republicans had done "infinitely" better. He pointed to 1,456 "security risks" fired under Eisenhower.

But then he said he wanted to look at where the Republican administration's batting average was what he called "zero."

He pointed to John Patton Da-

Police Believe Arrest Of Boy May Solve Recent Breakins

A 15-year Circleville boy was being held for Pickaway County juvenile court Wednesday following his arrest while he was allegedly engaged in the latest of a series of six local breakins.

Officer Charles Smith of city police said he caught the youth in the act of trying to loot a cash drawer Monday night at the Harden Chevrolet Co., 132 E. Franklin St., the scene of four breakins last week. Authorities believe the boy also was responsible for another breakin last week at Abe's Cafe on S. Court St.

Careful investigation, during which fluorescent powder was used in an effort to link the suspect with money taken from the auto agency, preceded the arrest. The powder was used as part of a trap which, officers said, led to the youth's downfall when he allegedly took money from the Harden office earlier Monday.

According to the police report, currency taken by the boy and reportedly later used as part of his admission price to a local movie had been saturated with the powder and checked for serial number. Notified the money was missing Monday, Smith hid in a pickup truck inside the Harden garage at 9 p. m.

ABOUT 10:10 P. M., the officer said, he saw the boy "climbing like a cat" through a window which he unlocked by reaching through a broken pane. "He moved right over to where he had got the money before," Smith reported, "and then I climbed out of the truck and came up behind him."

"When I grabbed him, he fought, kicked and cussed plenty. Later, when we turned the ultra-violet lamp on his pants, his right-hand pocket lit up like a Christmas tree where the powder we put on the money had rubbed off."

"At first he said it was paint on his pants, but of course when we turned off the lamp and turned on the office lights, the marks disappeared. He had admitted being at a movie that evening, and when we turned the lamp on the box office money at the theater a number of the bills also glowed with the tell-tale powder traces."

"The bill we were looking for wasn't there, because it was one of the first taken in and apparently was used to make change. But the powder rubbed off on some of the other cash the theater had taken in."

Police said change taken in the recent series of breakins amounted only to about $10, but a variety of items was taken from the auto agency and cafe.

Yule Seals Do Not Overlap New Levy

Residents of Pickaway County were reminded Wednesday that a special levy approved by the voters in the Nov. 3 balloting has no connection with the fund represented by the Christmas Seal campaign.

The levy passed at the election will help pay the cost of treatment for county tuberculosis patients who are already in hospitals, thus easing a financial load on the county treasury. On the other hand, funds collected through the Christmas Seals will go toward detection of tuberculosis cases and various steps to prevent the disease in this district.

A spokesman for Pickaway County Tuberculosis and Health Association, directing the seal drive, explained:

"Our treasury of course is entirely separate from the official county treasury, and our job is to uncover the early cases of tuberculosis and to try to check spread of the disease. That's the cause that you aid when you give to the seal drive at Christmas time."

The Association had warned earlier that the familiar Yuletide stickers cannot legally be sold door-to-door. The Association sends the Christmas Seals through the mail and suggests that contributions be returned by the same method.

Weekly Food Review

By Associated Press

There's cheerful news from the nation's food stores this week—plenty of everything for a well-rounded Thanksgiving dinner and good buys in several meats.

The story on turkeys is that prices are much the same as a year ago. But all in all, the holiday dinner should work out a little cheaper than in 1952 because potatoes, onions, cranberries and some of the other essentials are lower in price.

While all attention has been focused on the turkey, pork prices have declined. Pork has been coming down for several weeks, and food store men are calling it a good buy. Pork loins are down eight to 10 cents a pound. In New York, bacon has dropped from 99 cents a pound about a month ago to 83.

And a leading chain is presently featuring these reductions on center cut pork chops: 10 cents a pound in Chicago and Jacksonville, 8 cents in Philadelphia, 6 cents in Los Angeles and 4 cents in Pittsburgh.

Leg of lamb also is lower than it was a week ago, with reductions of two to four cents a pound fairly common. The beef market continues steady, but some stores are featuring items like beef roasts.

Frying chickens show little price change. Here and there, however, a couple of cents have been trimmed from week-ago prices.

Men in the produce business say cabbage is an outstanding buy. Among the good buys are beets, brussels sprouts, cauliflower, potatoes and onions. Sweet potatoes are a little higher than last week, but still fairly reasonable, the experts say. Celery is plentiful.

LATEST ON SAUCERS
BECAUSE OF THE mathematical certainty that reports of flying saucers being seen somewhere in the country will reappear momentarily after a hiatus of some weeks, scientific testimony on the subject is of some interest.

Thus the testimony of Vernon G. Plank of the Air Force Research Center, Cambridge, Mass., is worth noting. He gives out with the opinion that flying saucer reports may stem in some cases from freak weather conditions. Then he adds that there have been too many reports by qualified aerial observers to explain away flying saucers by citing meteorological conditions alone.

"Electronic equivalent of a mirage," is the term applied to meteorological saucers by Plank. This, he said, is shown in radar reports of "angels," a term describing patterns picked up from no apparent source. Plank made his views known while attending the 125th national meeting of the American Meteorological Society, which he addressed at Austin, Tex. Explaining the reasons for his conclusion that not all reports of saucers can be attributed to meteorological conditions, he said that if such were the fact there should be more reports in the Summer along coastline areas and at night, where such conditions would prevail most often.

If some saucers are mirages caused by weather, but not all, what of the others? The Air Force scientist was too coy to commit himself.

WILL HISTORY REPEAT?
ONE OF THE FIRST problems to be attacked by Congress when it returns to Washington will be how to rescue the agricultural industry from the burden of king-size surpluses. Farmers complain that prices they are receiving are too low, but surpluses, which have a depressing effect on prices despite government supports, are the real problem.

Congress will be urged to embark on a broad food relief program abroad. Exports of farm crops, which were subsidized by the U. S. government, have declined nearly one-third. Instead of finding a market abroad, surpluses now are going into storage.

During World War I American farm production was increased to help the Allies. Then came peace. Food demands on the United States decreased and surpluses developed. Economic disaster hit the farmers before it ravaged the remainder of the economy.

Countries which bore the brunt of World War II have largely restored their own farm production and require less from this

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days
National holidays are usually set aside to commemorate great historic events or to recall the lives of heroic individuals. Thanksgiving Day is different. It is unrelated to any particular historic event or to any great personality. It is an individualistic holiday, providing an opportunity for every person to thank God for the blessings that have come to him. It is a personal holiday and used to be deeply religious.

I am thankful that in 1917, at the beginning of my career, I was sent to Russia. Often I have thought of what might have been my story had this not happened. So many of those whom I knew in my boyhood moved from one liberal atmosphere to another until some of them landed in the Communist conspiracy.

Who knows what can happen in those youthful years when one is so sure that he has the answer to all problems; when he is so strong that he can remake the world—all by himself out of his own self-assurance?

Therefore, I am thankful that I was permitted to witness those strange days between July, 1917 and March, 1918 when a nation sought liberty and was reduced to slavery. It was an unforgettable experience. The brutality of the tiny minority, the Bolsheviks, made me aware of the chasm between profession and performance, between the proclamation of an ideal and the earthiness of reality.

I am thankful that this experience brought me back to the God of my fathers. For I had wandered in college in the Hegelian materialism which had already become the climate of American intellectualism. We already knew that God was a myth. But the reaction to Marxism, in its Leninist version in the midst of the Russian Revolution, could only be, if one did not submit to its disciples, the assurance that there must be a Divine Intelligence, a power outside ourselves that makes for righteousness, a God. From this strength alone can come reasoning resistance to Bolshevism.

I am thankful that having witnessed Socialism at work, I could not believe that any system is preferable to a free competitive economy in which each individual, at his risk, forms the pattern of his life. For no matter how ideally worded in the books, Socialism reduces man to serfdom in the sense that he becomes bound to the decisions and will of the State; he is a creature of police power.

When the government owns the means of production and distribution, the individual becomes a thing, a statistical figure. He is lost in the morass of bureaucracy.

I am thankful that early in life, in the atmosphere of a reign of terror, when men fought for the possession of an egg and women sold themselves for a bar of chocolate, it came to me that the Natural Law, the revealed law of God to man, proclaimed by my ancestors in the Bible, offering to man pity, compassion, charity, love as ideals of life, was a superior pattern to the Darwinian struggle for existence and the Marxian theory of unending class struggle.

country. In fact, few are in the market for anything, but all will accept hand-outs.

An administration bent on economy in behalf of the taxpayers and a balanced budget has reacted coolly to the suggestion of some farm organizations that all surplus farm crops be bought up by the government and shipped to wherever they will be accepted free throughout the world.

New Cure for Menstrual Pain
By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
THE female of the species, who looks forward to some degree of physical discomfort every month, would agree with the clinicians who term menstrual symptoms one of the important unsolved problems. It has been estimated that nearly one out of every three women suffer severe pain during menstruation. In this country alone, approximately five million women are temporarily incapacitated at least for a short period of time every month due to severe cramps.

Form of Distress Varies
Nearly all women have some form of menstrual distress such as headache, tiredness, some nausea and vomiting, and a feeling of fullness in their abdomen. However, when the discomfort becomes very severe, it deserves attention. It is believed that muscle spasms of the womb may be responsible for the severe pain. A great many women respond to the usual forms of treatment. These include bed rest at the time of onset of their period, and avoidance of excessive fatigue before their period; or they learn to ignore the pain if it is only slight.

Drugs Necessary
However, many women may require...

SYNOPSIS
Charlotte Morgan's cat tried to tell her something when she returned to her apartment late one night before Christmas Eve, after a long, bitter day of trying desperately to keep her mind on her creative advertising work in the hostile offices of the hated "King." She still could feel the eyes of Eric Hay burning into the back of her neck. She was serving a sentence, couldn't quit. The next day, while other office workers are holding Yuletide parties, "The King" postpones a staff meeting from 10:30 a. m. to 2 p. m. While waiting, Charlotte admits to herself that she is in love with Eric. At the afternoon conference, notices of his blisters on the wrists of Kingsley Cummings—"The King." She surmises that he is allergic to cats. Alone in her apartment Christmas Eve, Charlotte answers the phone twice. The second call is her mother. After a brief embrace, Eric tells Charlotte he thinks Cummings is jealous of him.

CHAPTER SEVEN
THE TROUBLE was, Charlotte could understand how her mother felt. "Especially," her mother went on, "since I didn't love him; I'd known that for a long time. So adventure came along. A man with great charm. He looked at me, and I couldn't look away. He touched me, and I caught fire. It was too much to fight, I didn't want to fight, I..." She paused, the amber eyes empty. "Today I can't remember his face. You wreck your life for a man, and you can't remember his face. These things happen, you don't plan them."

It was a thing Charlotte had long known. It can happen to your mother, or your neighbor. Or to yourself. Now, her mother said, the doctors gave her one chance in a hundred if she had an operation, for which she had no money. Charlotte had sat straight and still. "And you think I have money?" She waved her hand, indicating the working-girl apartment, with the shade that stuck, the floor board that creaked, the drawer that wouldn't quite close. "You think I would help you if I could?"

They faced each other, and at last her mother stood up tiredly. "I guess not," she said. "I ought to have known. I don't know why it matters; as often as I've wanted to die, it's strange I should want to live now. Or do I?" Her features set in a sigh. She seemed a woman weighed down by dead dreams and resigned to defeat.

But as she moved toward the door, she straightened her shoulders and dropped a piece of paper on the table. "My rooming-house number," she told Charlotte. "In case I can ever help you." The door closed behind her.

An hour passed before Charlotte moved. And Sunday had led to Monday. As far as she knew, what she did that Monday afternoon wasn't premeditated. Not for more than Copyright, 1952, by Marion Armour Salter. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

She knew that in the six months she'd been at Delafield's, she'd been getting A's in conduct, so to speak. She was the bright good girl who was doing everything to get ahead. And she believed she could carry off the idea that had just occurred to her. It was four-thirty. She waited till ten to five, then she called the jewelry buyer. "Listen, Mr. Nathan," Charlotte had said, "I didn't quite get my jewel song written. I'd like to keep the samples till morning. In my locker, here in the office. Okay?"

"Sure, Miss Morgan, that's okay. Just lock your locker." He thought nothing of it. That was what the copywriters' locker was for, a place to keep the merchandise samples.

It was easy. She picked up the rings and watches, made a business of putting them in the locker. It took only a bit of sleight of hand to tuck them in the tight sleeve of her sweater instead. Two watches, two rings. Leaving the store, she headed for Third Avenue. Within an hour the money was in her purse, and the four pawn tickets from the four different shops. It was the first wrong against society Charlotte had ever committed. She felt oddly elated. Avenged. Why should someone die for lack of the money

news behind the news

WASHINGTON — Harry Dexter White's possible involvement in Communist intrigue in explosive South America remains on the calendar of the Senate Internal security subcommittee as extremely important but unfinished business. The Reds have virtually taken over Guatemala, ousting U. S. interests and confiscating their property, and have dangerous footholds in other countries within easy bombing distance.

It has been brought out that, while under what Harry S. Truman describes as "surveillance," White visited almost every Caribbean, Central American and Latin-American country in 1947—a year after the many FBI warnings against him—as a representative of the International Monetary Fund. He handled such a delicate question as exchange rates.

It would not be surprising if the FBI had a secret file on his activities while on this trip. His espionage activities had been well documented, and he was supposedly under strict watch by order of Truman. It is known that the FBI had scores of its ablest agents throughout this area, combating Russian spies and businessmen. By arrangement with the State Department, J. Edgar Hoover's sleuths were attached to economic and diplomatic missions in order to camouflage their real assignment.

CURRIE—In this connection, the Jenner committee would like to question Lauchlin Currie, a White friend and protégé even before both entered Treasury service in 1934. Currie was listed by Elizabeth Bentley along with White as one of the Red ring's most valuable contacts and promoters in the Roosevelt Administration. When Currie resigned as a White House secretary several years ago, he was engaged by the Colombian republic to make a study of its monetary and financial system, including exchange rates. Despite some mystery surrounding his long absence, he is now said to be advising Colombia on irrigation problems. He was never known to be an expert in that field, however.

who headed one of the two rings for which she acted as courier. Currie was deeply involved in the activities of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which is alleged to have influenced former State Secretary George C. Marshall to withhold military and economic aid from Chiang Kai-shek, thus enabling the Communists to conquer China. One indictment of Owen Lattimore is based on his denial that Currie permitted the Baltimore propagandist to handle confidential mail during Currie's absence from duty.

AMENDMENT—Almost every witness questioned by the Jenner committee hid behind the Fifth Amendment, even when asked the simple question of whether they knew Currie. They seemed to think that admission of a mere acquaintance would incriminate them. The famous Berle memo, based on data given the former assistant secretary of state by Whittaker Chambers 14 years ago, says: "Lauchlin Currie was a fellow traveler, helped various Communists, but never went all the way."

SILVERMASTER—Miss Bentley testified that Currie's influence enabled the Reds to infiltrate spies into the government, to obtain promotions and transfers placing them in more sensitive positions, and to cover the Capital like a blanket. One subversive he protected against Army Intelligence protests was Nathan Gregory Silvermaster,

Current House Market Given Detailed Study

Used Property Buying Prospects Better; New Unit Status Steady

NEW YORK (AP)—Are your prospects for buying the house you want getting better worse or staying about the same?

The answer: For new houses, about the same; for used houses, much better. But financing terms and availability of mortgage money differ regionally.

Although there's been a slight drop in home building, most forecasts are that we'll keep on building houses near the whopping rate of about a million a year. Recession talk is fading.

So the supply continues good, but what about price?

While pressure for price boosts is being generated by rising costs of labor and land improvement, says the National Assn. of Home Builders, this is countered by growing competition among builders. So new home prices are mainly steady and the competition makes for better quality.

It's a standoff, then, in that phase of the market.

While new home prices are firm, the prices of pre-war homes have dropped 5 to 10 per cent, according to a report on 12 cities throughout the nation by the Society of Real Estate Appraisers.

Many owners of newer-than-pre-war houses have slashed their imaginative asking prices, sometimes by 20 per cent.

"Used house bargains will be plentiful," says George F. Warnecke, head of the national mortgage firm bearing his name.

Fitting in this picture is a trend to build larger and costlier houses for one section of the buying public. That's partially a backlash from the terrific postwar buying of small homes by GI's and others who now have bigger families and bigger incomes.

Among the dwellings now outgrown by these owners, house-hungry newbies may find buys aplenty.

So prospects are better if you're shopping for a lived-in house.

Piece Of String Separates Couple

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A piece of string divides the refrigerator in the home of Kenneth L. Fisher and his wife, estranged. Their food is separated too.

Fisher, wealthy 29-year-old owner of an auto repair business, is in court trying to get full custody of their 5-year-old son. His wife Betty, 24, married twice previously, is trying to get full possession of the house.

Mrs. Fisher says she cooks her own food, but Fisher has a housekeeper to prepare his.

"I want my husband out of the house," Mrs. Fisher told a court commissioner Monday, "and I want to fire the housekeeper."

Fisher wants custody of the child pending trial of their divorce action next March 23.

Thanksgiving Day

The First Thanksgiving Day in Ohio was on Christmas. Ohio was still a part of the Northwest Territory at that time, and the official who proclaimed the first day of thanksgiving wasn't Santa Claus. The man who started the great festive day in the wilderness that is now Ohio was Governor Arthur St. Clair.

The Territorial Governor set aside Thursday, December 25, 1788, as "a day of solemn thanksgiving and praise," when the inhabitants would "unite in humble supplications to Almighty God, that he would be graciously pleased to prosper this infant settlement, and the whole territory, in their husbandry, trade and manufactures, by His own nurturing hands, mature and bring to perfection all seminaries of learning, the promotion and enlargement of piety, and true religion amongst all nations of the earth."

St. Clair closed his proclamation of the first Thanksgiving Day in Ohio with a typical Puritan admonition, "and I do prohibit servile labour on that day."

Thanksgiving Day has been changed several times by succeeding Governors and Presidents. Regardless of the date, the day is always observed with the greatest enthusiasm in Ohio. No other place on earth has more to be thankful for than Ohio, and the citizens of this great state are intelligent enough to realize that God has been especially kind to them.

Ohio has come a long way since the first day of solemn thanksgiving in Marietta at which time the population could be counted by hundreds instead of millions, and the horizon seemed to be as near as the walls of the stockade.

The same faith that prompted the proclamation of Ohio's First Thanksgiving Day helped to carry the pioneers through terrible tribulations and establish the way of life that Ohioans have cherished for a century and a half.

In this Sesquicentennial Year, the day of Thursday, November 26, will be observed in more than 9,000 churches of all denominations and in the homes of eight million Ohioans.

County Grangers Attend Meeting Of Polio Group

Representatives of Pickaway County's Granges met with heads of the Pickaway County Chapter for Infantile Paralysis Monday night to plan a county-wide effort in the 1954 March of Dimes campaign.

Grange representatives at the meeting were told the 1954 national drive is aimed at a goal of $75 million.

Of this amount, they were told, one-third will be spent for gamma globulin and for the new polio vaccine field tests, while the remainder will be divided between the local chapter for patient care and the national foundation.

The 1954 March of Dimes campaign is to begin on Jan. 1 in Pickaway County, and will continue throughout the month.

Grange representatives at the special meeting were: Arthur Dick, Mostyn Garrett and Carl Duddleson of Star Grange; F. R. Lands of Washington Grange; Fred Dountz, H. A. Bumgarner, Ernest Bidwell and Chester Fausnaugh of Scioto Grange; Lewis Dean of Mt. Pleasant Grange; Hoyt Timmons and Phillip Wilson of Logan Elm Grange; and Dwight Rector and Mrs. G. ## Sokolsky's These Days

I am thankful for the long years I spent among the kindly Chinese, who broadened my outlook on life and proved that while the human race contains as many different kinds of people as there are varieties of roses, all human beings are much the same in their elementary nature.

Before I arrived in Harbin in 1918, the only Chinese I had known were sugar-cane merchants in New York's Chinatown, chop suey restaurant waiters, laundrymen, and three or four students at Columbia University. For 13 years, I lived among the Chinese in their own country and I came to know them with rare intimacy—and to love them.

But most of all, I am thankful that I am a citizen of no mean country; that in this country of my birth, I am permitted to write and speak, wisely or foolishly, in freedom. I am thankful that I can worship my God without fear and that no government controls my life or threatens me with reprisals against my children.

On Thanksgiving Day, I shall bow my head before the gracious God whose shadow fell between me and possible grievous errors that could have tortured my life and brought misery to my kin.

There is so much to be thankful for.

Commissioner Defends County's Health Unit, Hits 'Mud Throwing'

Declaring that "only one side has been presented" so far on the question of a city-county health department merger, Dr. A. D. Blackburn opened a defense Wednesday of the administration he leads as Pickaway County health commissioner.

He said he did so only because of statements made and impressions given at last week's meeting of the Pickaway Community Health Council, a countywide organization which for nearly a year has been discussing a proposed merger of the county and city of Circleville. The county health chief declared "it is going too far" when "they allow speakers who know nothing about health work to get up in public and slander the county health department . . . and throw mud at the county health program."

A proposal to unify the local health departments became the center for sharp controversy when the health council met to vote on whether it should recommend such a merger to Circleville's City Council and the county's health advisory council. Strong pro-merger sentiment was evident during the session, but the group decided to withhold a vote on the question until its next meeting in January.

A majority of the members in attendance indicated they did not feel themselves sufficiently instructed by the units they represent. The units, it was agreed, should be given an opportunity to learn the major points involved before their spokesmen are sent to the January session with orders on how to ballot.

E. A. GRABER of the state department of health was the principal speaker at last week's meeting. Strongest sentiment in favor of unification was voiced by Harry Reese, president of the Harrison Township board of trustees.

Dr. Blackburn's statement follows:

"I have attended almost all of the meetings of the health council except the last one. My reason for not wanting to go to the last meeting was because I anticipated an argument, and I did not want to be a party to that.

"I have stayed in the background of this debate over unification of health departments. However, I now feel that—for reasons of self-defense—I should make some comment on last Friday's meeting.

"I have no criticism at all of the state speaker's address, but I surely want to reply to that spontaneous and unprepared talk by one of our county citizens, and his statement about money being poured down a rat-hole. I think that the county board of health has been very careful in the way it spends its money.

"They would hardly consider it a waste of money to have all the school wells examined regularly. Money used to immunize school children would not be considered as poured down a rat hole. I have just completed my second visit to our 17 county schools, and have given nearly 600 diphtheria shots, including boosters.

"I AM NOW in my 17th year as county health commissioner. We have a good health program, and there has been no complaint from the county health board or the advisory council concerning our work. The question of employing a full-time sanitarian for the county has come up several times, but the board of health and the advisory council have both voted against this.

"Up until now, the good citizens who comprise the health council have been very sincere in their efforts to get a better health program for the city. No thinking person would be against having the best for Circleville that could be procured, but when they allow speakers who know nothing about health work to get up in public and slander the county health department and its work, and throw mud at the county health program, then I think that it is going too far.

"I would hate very much to contradict any statement made by the state speaker but I especially want to call attention to that portion of the published account which said Extension Agent Larry Best asked, 'Do you mean to tell me that we are not qualified at this time to receive any of those free state services?' And, according to the newspaper's account, 'Graber confirmed this is true.'

"According to Graber, such services include high salaried sanitation engineers, nutrition service, hearing and vision consultants and also a laboratory service. We have always gotten these services and we are still getting them!

"Twice within the last week or 10 days have we had the services of an eye consultant, and twice this month, the services of a state engineer. I have never been refused the services of a state sanitary engineer, whenever I have asked for such service. And the state laboratory. We have every service that they offer, and seldom a day goes by that we do not send them a specimen for testing.

"I am glad that the voting on unification was postponed for a later date, and until such time as facts can be ascertained. So far, only one side has been presented.

"I THINK a health council can be a great benefit to a community, and I am in sympathy with its aims; to be a help to the different health agencies. So far I can see no good that has come from these well meant efforts. Some selfish interests have crept into the organization and the result has been that health programs are being torn down instead of built up.

"These meetings have caused tempers to flare up and they have reached the mud-slinging stage, and I am fearful that the name-calling stage will come next and then no telling what.

"Why not settle down and try to do something good, or else fold up."

Grocer Knows Advertising, Too

CINCINNATI (AP)—A grocer with a love for music—and an ear for public relations—presented the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra free last night to 2,000 Cincinnati goers.

William H. Albers, sponsor of the pop concert, made no bones about why he would support two more similar programs this season. The music is good advertising for his business.

Tickets are given away at Albers' many stores.

Increase In Entries Noted For Big Livestock Display

CHICAGO—Of the 26 breeds of farm animals that will be seen here at the 54th annual International Livestock Exposition increases in entries over last year have been made in nine breeds.

Opening Friday with an evening horse show performance, the International will run through Dec. 5, for eight days of history-making events in the livestock world. An estimated 10,000 head of livestock entries will be shown by exhibitors in 37 states and three Canadian provinces.

Aberdeen-Angus entries lead the cattle breeds in number with 686 head listed for the breeding and fat classes. This is a record number at any show in the history of this breed of beef cattle.

Next are Herefords, with 476 entries, followed by 390 Shorthorns and 152 Polled Shorthorns.

Swine entries top last year's show by 50 head, with 838 barrows of 8 breeds listed. Poland Chinas lead with 179 head, closely followed by Yorkshires with 162. Sheep numbers are smaller than peak entries of recent years, the management reports. A total of 883 head will be shown in the individual classes, representing 10 breeds.

Prime steers, fed and groomed by young 4-H and FFA boys and girls will number nearly 500 head, higher, it is reported, than the number shown last year. The na-

That's No Goose, Swan-Thief Told

NORWALK, Conn. (AP)—That fowl stolen from Pete Hettings' ranch is no Thanksgiving bird, he announced today. He said it's a young swan, not a goose, and would make a pretty tough holiday dish.

The rancher, who values the swan at $125, says he'll give the thief a goose, however, and will ask no questions if the swan is returned.

Alston Slated To Stay, Bum Prexy Claims

BROOKLYN (AP)—Walter Alston, new Brooklyn Dodger pilot, will not be an interim manager.

Dodger President Walter F. O'Malley stressed that point with special emphasis today, going at great lengths to explain that "no one will be breathing down his neck. The job is his for many years to come, I hope."

Alston, a comparative unknown, was named to succeed Charlie Dresser yesterday after Peewee Reese, shortstop and captain of the Dodgers, had declined the role of a playing manager.

The 42-year-old resident of Oxford, Ohio, who has been serving as manager in the Dodger farm system for 8½ years, saw the briefest of service in the major leagues. He appeared in only one game and was at bat only one time. That was in 1936 as a member of the St. Louis Cardinals.

O'Malley, who sat side by side with his new manager during the two-hour press conference at the Dodgers' office, frankly voiced his concern that Alston would be looked upon in certain quarters as an interim manager, filling in only until Reese was ready to take over the managerial reins.

"That definitely is no so," he declared, "Reese will not be a shadow creeping up on Alston. Peewee is a fine, understanding and wonderful person. If Reese wants to manage when his playing career is over, we will give him an opportunity to manage in our minor league organization."
